Commercial

Creating spaces that welcome and invite while serving a desired purpose, paying close attention to detail throughout a project.

We strive to serve the present and influence the future through design that is imaginative and informed.

We value achieving a sustainable result through conscientious planning and a results-driven mindset. Design solves a challenge, advocates for innovation and growth, and invites user engagement. The blending of our Commercial, Placemaking, and Residential areas of expertise brings tremendous value to clients planning all sizes of mixed-use development, new office building and restoration, strip and mall conversions, renovations and revitalization of abandoned sites and neighborhoods.

Our Teams work on multiple project types with varying scopes and sizes. Projects can include restaurants, entertainment facilities, shopping centers, retail spaces and industrial facilities.

Our Process

We believe in the power and efficiency of a collaborative design process rooted in research. First and foremost, we identify the project's goals, challenges, obstacles and requirements. Based on these assessments, we create a plan with clear, concise and measurable objectives to achieve these goals, partnering with clients, contractors and construction managers throughout the entire process. .

WESTERN RESERVE GROUP INSURANCE | Wooster, Ohio

RDL collaborated with Western Reserve Group and Bogner Construction Company to design an 85,000+ square-foot, four-story headquarters on a 13.9-acre site, balancing the owner's needs with project budget. Connected to the original 2007 building by a pedestrian bridge, the new facility features masonry, metal panels, and curtainwall systems designed to complement the existing campus. RDL also enhanced the employee experience through campus-style amenities that promote physical well-being, including a basketball half-court, scenic walking trail, and paved fitness area.

HILTON TEMPO HOTEL | Orange, Ohio

For the proposed 132-room Tempo by Hilton in Orange Village, Ohio, RDL Architects worked within hospitality brand standards to create a distinctive design tailored to its site and setting. Guided by Tempo's emphasis on locally responsive architecture and interiors, RDL designed an expressive entrance canopy, patterned screens, and a prominent vertical sign element that invite guests to "look up," translating the brand's concept into a memorable arrival experience. Thoughtful planning connects guest arrival, check-in, dining, and outdoor gathering spaces, balancing guest comfort with operational needs. Through coordination with the owner, Hilton's design team, and local officials, RDL brings together architectural design, site planning, and entitlement support to advance complex hospitality projects.

ROYALTON COLLECTION | Strongsville, Ohio

The Royalton Collection is a ground-up 75,000 square foot open-air mixed-use destination that brings services and convenience to the growing retail corridor in Strongsville, Ohio. Located just off I-71 and the I-80 Ohio Turnpike, this 8.5-acre site started as one of the last remaining wooded lots in the area, with the corporate office building being the only built structure on site. Through careful planning this mixed-use center revitalizes the site and complements the redevelopment of the existing 120,000 square foot rear corporate office campus by adding nationally recognized retailers, restaurants, and unique retail boutiques to the area.
